

P. F. Grossman To Head Island Union Library

News has been received of the appointment of Mr. P. F. Grossman as head of the Vancouver Island Union Library, with headquarters at Nanaimo. His appointment follows upon the resignation of Miss K. M. Kidd as regional librarian of the Island union library district which was organized by Dr. Stewart following the Carnegie demonstration in the Fraser Valley.

Mr. Grossman has been on leave of absence from the staff of the Fraser Valley Union Library, undertaking studies and research in the School of Librarianship at the University of California, on a scholarship granted by the American Library Association for special work in rural library service.

In his letter of resignation from the staff of the library in the Fraser Valley, Mr. Grossman states that during the past few months he has had an opportunity of observing the interest with which regional library development in British Columbia is being watched throughout the library world and he expresses satisfaction in having had some part in the development of the Fraser Valley Union Library from its beginnings to the position of importance which it now holds.

Mr. Grossman, with his family, who have spent the winter with him in Berkeley, is expected home about May 22.

Class "B" Fair Project Meets With Approval

As a result of a joint meeting of business men and representatives of the Central Fraser Valley Fair Association, held Thursday night, delegations will wait on the Abbotsford town council and Abbotsford and District Board of Trade regarding the proposal to assist the fair attain Class B status.

It was explained that only about $375 additional prize money over that raised last year will be necessary to provide the Central Fair with the $1500 total required to qualify for "B" rating and subsequent Dominion grants.

Interest of the Fair Association, it was made clear, is to secure a Federal grant to enable it to provide urgently needed accommodation for exhibits. Interest of the business men of Abbotsford is to secure construction of a building suitable as a community hall.

Co-operation with the Fair Association was unanimously considered to be the solution to both problems.

J. S. Daly and L. J. Kettle were named a committee to approach the Town Council to recommend fencing of the grounds used by the fair in order that the fair and other public organizations may secure admissions from all those who entertained by their enterprise and effort.

Vice-president Dan Hunt and Secretary Kettle of the Fair Board were appointed to meet the Board of Trade with the joint committee of the trade board and Abbotsford organizations working on the auditorium project and explain the advantages of co-operation.

THREE PERSONS ESCAPE INJURY WHEN AUTO SKIDS INTO DITCH

About 2:30 p.m. on Sunday a car driven by Miss C. Deroche of Deroche, B.C., skidded off the Trans-Provincial Highway, Sumas Prairie and overturned in the reed-grown ditch. The driver and two other occupants escaped with slight bruises, being taken to Chilliwack for a change of costume. The accident occurred when the brakes were applied and the tires skidded on the wet, black pavement. The car was considerably damaged.

Spring Brings Beautiful Blossom Time to the Fertile Fraser Valley

—Illustration courtesy Vancouver Sun.

It's Springtime In the Fraser Valley!

Spring in all her glory has come to the Fraser Valley, bringing the first signs of the early growth, snow white and pink fruit trees and industry.

Cattle grazing in a lush pastureland under a noon-day sun can be seen in the top picture, while the gorgeous tree fruit blossoms to be found on every side are shown in the lower picture.

Inset is an indication of the industry apparent throughout the fertile valley. A plowman is utilizing a tractor-driven plow to aid him in his task of cultivating his fields.

Profusion of Bloom Presages Record Tree Fruit Crop This Year; Fields Green Across Valley

A City editor views the Fraser Valley in Springtime. Through the courtesy of the Vancouver Sun we present three illustrations of the Valley in May. We also present, "heads" and all, the story, written by William Short, provincial editor of The Sun, which accompanied the pictures on the front page of the city daily.

It's blossom time in Fraser Valley.

Fickle Mother Nature, in one of her better moods, has caressed the apple, pear, plum and cherry trees and they have responded with a profusion of bloom that heralds Spring's arrival.

Thick, snow-white cherry blossoms and the less-heavy plum and pear blossom are massed on every side throughout the rich, fertile Chilliwack Valley, in Abbotsford, Sumas and Matsqui districts, in Surrey, Mission, Maple Ridge and Coquitlam.

The bloom on most trees is heavy, heavier than for some years, and given not too much rain, not too heavy a frost, and plenty of sun, one of the Valley's heaviest tree fruit crops is anticipated.

Adding to the beauty of the orchards are the lush green fields, tinged with yellow dandelions; the freshly plowed fields, showing the first signs of early Spring growth, the pastoral loveliness of grazing cattle.

KIND WINTER

The countryside is quiet, belying the industry apparent elsewhere.

FLYING STEEL SLIVER DESTROYS SIGHT OF EYE

A flying sliver of steel cost John Herperger, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Herperger, Abbotsford, the sight of his right eye, on May 4. The accident occurred when the young man, employed on the C.P.R. track crew here, was using a sledge. He was taken to St. Paul's hospital, Vancouver, where it was found necessary to remove the eye.

The plowman is cutting a straight furrow in a field which will later produce products to grace the dinner table in country, city and town; new land is being cleared on all sides to bring new wealth to the farmer; paint is being added to the homes and barns.

Winter was kind to the Valley this year. Tree fruit and small fruit ranches escaped almost unscathed and everywhere is apparent a feeling of optimism.

Strawberry plantations in the Mission-Hatzie-Dewdney area, as well as other parts of the Valley were the berries are produced, are well advanced, but only one or two plants in a field are in bloom.

Raspberry canes are strong, and have taken on their summer covering of green.

TYPICAL SCENE

A typical scene on a farm anywhere in the Valley is a chicken proudly clucking with her few-day-old brood; a litter of two-month-old pigs, scampering joyfully in the sun on their first day of life; a plowman preparing land for seed and fires destroying debris from recently-cleared land.

Closer to the ranch house can be seen the first signs of the earlier planted carrots and beets; cabbages are well above the ground; potatoes show their first signs of growth, and the fruit trees, still bearing the scars of the past silver thaw, cover the havoc wrought with a profusion of bloom.

Lehman. This ruling does not apply to the Philip Sheffield high school.

Glasses Already Provided in Ten Cases by Fund

Mr. T. W. Hall, director of education for the A. S. M. area, announces that he has received for the Children's Necessities Fund, the following sums to date. The result, he states, has been most gratifying. It is intended that some of this money shall be used in the furnishing of spectacles for needy children. Up to date, ten pairs of glasses have been provided at an exceedingly low cost.

Itemized accounting up to date is as follows: Huntingdon P.T.A. $2; Poplar (including $25 from Matsqui) $60; Canadian Legion $10; Sumas Municipality $25; F.V.M.P.A. $25.85.

Mr. Hall has been assured that further contributions will be made to this fund. The money is deposited in the local bank and can be withdrawn by the double signature of the Supervisor of Nurses and the Director of Education.

Any information desired will willingly be furnished by Mr. Hall, upon request.

A very successful Spring Sale was held Saturday under the auspices of the W.A. of St. Matthew's church. All organizations of the church took part and the sum of $60 was realized.

IMPROVEMENT TAX IS PROPOSED FOR MATSQUI

A return to taxing improvements seems assured in Matsqui municipality this year. The tax rate for 1938 was not definitely set at the regular meeting of the council on Saturday but, it is expected, will be struck at a meeting of the council being held today. The improvement tax will probably be based on 75 per cent of the value of improvements but the council will decide today what millage will be required, Reeve George Cruickshank states. Tax on land will be reduced.

About 90 unemployed men attended the council meeting Saturday. Cases of about 40 recently put off relief rolls will, it was arranged, be reviewed jointly by the municipal and provincial investigators.

Nearly a Mile of Whatcom Road Relocated

Dragline dredge of the Sumas Dyking Commission has finished throwing up the fill for the relocated Whatcom road north in Sumas municipality.

Work of relocating about three-quarters of a mile of this road, a tortuous section that winds with the course of the Upper Sumas river, and drifts badly in the winter, has been proceeding for some weeks.

Cost of breaking the snow drifts every winter and the problem of maintaining the winding road was considered excessive by the Sumas municipal council and it is figured the new road will pay for itself in reduced overhead within a few years.

The new grade is above the drift line. It runs due North and South and follows the lot line. A subway has been installed to permit passage of cattle in the field adjacent to the Trans-Provincial highway without danger to the animals or delay to traffic.

Rifle Clubs Enjoy Range at Ridgedale Hall

Sixteen members of St. Luke's Rifle Club and fourteen members of Chilliwack Rifle Club were entertained on Thursday evening by members of Ridgedale Rod & Gun Club at the Ridgedale Hall indoor ranges. About 75 or 80 persons in all attended the shoot.

Feature of the evening was the finals between Archie Conroy and Joe Smith for the Sisson's Challenge cup, eventually won by the former after two tries. Conroy becomes the first holder of the trophy which will be up for semi-annual competition, Spring and Fall.

Each of the three clubs were allotted two each of the six targets comprising the Ridgedale range, and good shooting as well as a pleasant social time was enjoyed. Chilliwack's shooting won the admiration of the local and Coast shots. St. Luke's Club was only formed last January and includes women members, a number of whom participated Thursday night.

The evening was in charge of Archie Conroy, Eddie Fore and Len Swanson, shoot committee of the Ridgedale Club and Bert Farr, floor man. W. Chandler, instructor, led the Coast visitors and Pat Johnson the team from the Cherry City. Supper was spread by the Ridgedale members after the shoot.

News printery, Clarence Nelson's electric store, the Marigold Beauty Shoppe, and offices of Dr. J. E. Lukas, as well as serving Trinity United church.

TRUCK OVERTURNS ON HARRIS HILL

A truck driven by Robert McRae, proceeding down the Harris road hill, Matsqui, got on the soft shoulder of the road in passing an upward bound truck and rolled over the bank, about 9 a.m. Monday. McRae, and a passenger, Peter McLean of Matsqui, were pinned under the overturned truck until released by the driver of the other vehicle. McRae escaped with bruises, but McLean suffered cuts, bruises and shock. The truck was badly damaged.

Universal Fingerprinting

For some reason or another, hard to explain, proposals that citizens submit themselves to voluntary fingerprinting as a means of subsequent identification in the event of emergency, have met with nothing but indifference, if not actual aversion on the part of the general public in this country.

This is somewhat surprising when one considers with what enthusiasm this proposal has been received in the United States and some other countries where numerous organizations have taken up the movement and have been successful in interesting the average citizen to a considerable degree.

Possibly the fact that hitherto fingerprinting has been associated solely with the identification of criminals may have something to do with the average Canadian's "cold shoulder" attitude towards fingerprinting, for the general mill run of Canadian citizen is essentially law abiding and is apt to resent the slightest hint that he is not; and this mistaken viewpoint towards fingerprinting may account for his attitude.

On the other hand the diffidence with which suggestions and invitations for fingerprinting on wholesale but voluntary basis have been received in this country to date may be due to lack of knowledge of the benefits which such certain means of identification would confer, generally, not only upon the individual but on the entire community. In all probability this is the principal reason for lack of interest in and response to this method of indexing for identification in Canada.

Has Many Values

A dozen ways in which universal fingerprinting would be of value to the individual citizen and the community in toto were set forth recently in a letter appearing in an Ontario daily newspaper by John Tenbroeck of Thorold, Ont., as follows:

"1. Elimination of election frauds; 2. Elimination of insurance frauds; 3. Minimization of immigration and emigration frauds; 4. Prevention of fraudulent evidence and repudiation of signature on deeds in legal proceedings; 5. Elimination of impersonations; 6. Confirmation of marriages and bigamy rendered impossible; 7. Prevention of the substitution of a corpse for the body of another; 8. Elimination of dope fiends, insane persons and alcoholics;

"9. Regarded by the writer as very important; (a) Prevention of the physically unfit from obtaining an automobile license, (b) License carriers would be unable to fool police by giving a false name when caught violating the law, (c) Persons permanently deprived of driving privileges would be permanently ruled off the highway, (d) As a consequence of better operators an immediate decrease in our appalling death rate on the highways would result;

"10. As a result of decreased deaths and injuries on the highways there would be a corresponding drop in automobile insurance rates; 11. People suffering from loss of memory could be quickly identified, saving relatives money and perhaps a lifetime of worry and uncertainty; 12. Establishment of the true identity of the unknown dead, thereby saving the public the cost of burying them. The number of people buried in nameless graves was 46,000 last year, costing the public from $50 to $150 each for their burial."

Reducing Accident Toll

As Mr. Tenbroeck intimates there can be no question of the value voluntary fingerprinting could be made to exert in reducing the toll of accident and death on the highways, if it were made to serve some of the purposes he outlines in his item No. 9. The growing toll of loss of life and property from this cause is verified in recent statistics for last year and is already being reflected in increased automobile insurance rates.

On this ground and this alone, there should be general support for the movement for universal fingerprinting on the part of all who themselves make reasonable use of the automobile and the highways and who are constantly endangered by a reckless minority.

"Millions of men were fingerprinted during the World War, not as a criminal measure, but it was done for the protection of the men," said Mr. Tenbroeck, urging support for universal fingerprinting. "It provided," he reminds those who may have forgotten the fact, "an inviolable record through which identity could never be lost, through death, through injury, loss of memory or any other war incident."

"To-day in many countries, and especially in the United States of America, universal fingerprinting is progressing by leaps and bounds. Rotary, Lions, Kiwanis, Kinsmen, Y.M.C.A., clubs etc., in many localities and States, where drives are being put on for civil fingerprinting registrations, are solidly behind this move. The American Legion, women's clubs, church societies, etc., are working for it."

Police Approval Intimated

Indications are that support will be given the movement in Canada at the annual convention of police chief constables in the summer, as the arguments put forward by Mr. Tenbroeck are reprinted with approval in a recent issue of the Canadian Police Bulletin with a suggestion that "police chiefs should be taking every opportunity to impress the advantages of universal fingerprinting upon the public whom the proposal is designed to serve."

Crown Of Conquered Ruler

Has Been Taken From Ethiopia To Premier Mussolini

The jewel-encrusted crown of conquered Ethiopia has been presented to Premier Benito Mussolini.

Il Duce received the symbol of vanished Ethiopian glory from Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, former Italian viceroy of Ethiopia, who brought it from Addis Ababa, together with Haile Selassie's imperial scepter.

Both were captured when the Ethiopian capital fell to the Italians in May, 1936. Mussolini ordered that the gold crown and scepter be placed on display in Rome's Colonial Museum.

Il Duce congratulated Graziani on his work in Ethiopia, especially for his victory on the southern front in the Ethiopian campaign.

The government announced that 136 Italian workers had died of illness or accident in Ethiopia from December, 1937, to February. The new deaths brought to 1,732 Italians officially reported dead there since Jan. 1, 1935.

"A warm bath stimulates the imagination," says a doctor. "This explains why a man who has taken a warm bath will come downstairs boasting that he has just had a cold one."

New Markets For Vegetables

Perfect Type Of Dehydrator Has Greatly Improved Quality

New markets for Canadian grown vegetables may be opened up as a result of recent advances made in the technique of vegetable dehydration. The research committee of the Canadian Horticultural Council meeting in Ottawa reported that the perfection of a new type of dehydrator has resulted in a great improvement in the quality of the output and a substantial saving in cost.

Since most vegetables are composed largely of water, they are difficult to store for long periods and expensive to transport. Removal of much of this water by the new dehydration process removes these difficulties to a large extent and vegetable foods can be stored against a period of scarcity. Markets which are far removed from sources of supply, such as mining camps, may be supplied with dried vegetables which with the addition of water will be practically equal to the fresh article. There is also a possibility of considerable demand for these dried vegetables to be used for war purposes where the weight and bulk of the fresh products would greatly limit their use.

HE SUFFERED AGONY IN WET WEATHER

Rheumatism Attacked Limbs And Body

He had been bothered with rheumatism for years. The pain in wet weather—to use his own expression—was "indescribable." But all that is gone now—thanks to Kruschen.

Read this letter:—"I suffered with rheumatism for years. I dreaded wet weather, for during such periods the pain was continuous and indescribable. To begin with, it was confined to my limbs, but in time I began to suffer as much agony in my body as I did in my limbs. When I began to take Kruschen Salts, I found it did me more good than all the other medicine I had taken put together. Today, I have peace and freedom from pain, even during wet weather, and can heartily recommend Kruschen Salts to anyone who suffers from rheumatism."—N.M.

Rheumatic conditions are often the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients in Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals. Other ingredients in these Salts assist Nature to expel the dissolved crystals through the natural channels.

Friends For Forty Years

Former President Hoover Called On Ignace Paderewski In Geneva

In a four-storied villa overlooking Lake Geneva there was a reunion of old friends when former President Hoover called upon Ignace Jan Paderewski, pianist, former Premier of Poland. Though ill and in retirement Paderewski in his 78th year is as "brilliant as ever," Mr. Hoover reported. The former President, who has known Paderewski for 40 years, said that during his visit the two had "an enjoyable chat about old times and old friends." Both could recall the Versailles Peace Conference, which both attended.

During the World War Paderewski raised a force of 100,000 Poles to fight in France as a move for Polish freedom. He gave $2,000,000 of his fortune to the cause, and when the war ended hurried to Poland. He was hailed as a national liberator. In 1919 he was head of the government, representing Poland at the Peace Conference. The French Premier Clemenceau found it hard to believe that the Polish statesman was also the famous pianist. Finally convinced, he said to Paderewski: "So now you are the premier of your country. What a come-down!"—New York Times.

New Style In Uniforms

Tommy Atkins Will Not Have Any Buttons To Shine

Tommy Atkins' troubles are dwindling. His uniform will be streamlined, his buttons and puttees abolished and most important of all, his pack will be lightened.

The war office has not yet decided which of two experimental service outfits—embodying these improvements—will be adopted.

Two soldier "mannequins" paraded the new outfits the other day. The uniforms are of the "overall" type with loose collar attached and with trousers of the ski-slack type. Tough denim is used instead of serge.

One soldier sported a smart outfit with a turkey forage cap, collar buttoned round the neck and trousers buckled at the ankles. The other wore a similar uniform with deer-stalker cap, loose peg top trousers worn with canvas gaiters.

In one uniform hidden buttons made of a composition which can't be shined are used. In the other are zip-fasteners.

Weight of packs had been cut to a minimum by the adoption of small hand cases for personal articles which are to be carried by motor transport when the soldier is on the march.

Butter And Cheese

Both Of These Products Have A High Food Value

No one knows in what order man discovered butter and cheese, the first manufactured foods. Ever since it was found that top milk, which we know as cream, could be churned into butter and preserved by salting, this food has been highly considered. Probably first valued as a concentrated form of food, we now have become most particular in regard to the flavor attribute.

Our taste has been refined to such an extent that we demand delicate, bland flavor and are satisfied with only the best butter or our bread. Good bread and butter, nothing is better to our taste, and at the same time we have a combination of high food value.

Butter, like other fats, has a high calory value and provides as well a liberal quantity of vitamin A which is not the case with other fats, unless it has been artificially added.

The hardened vegetable fats and lard are shortenings widely used in cookery, both as shortening and for frying. Weight for weight, they are a little higher in fuel value than butter.

A Matter Of Opinion

Two friends met in the street. One of them had had his arm broken in a motor accident and was carrying it in a sling.

"Say," asked the first, "it's too bad about your arm! How long will you have to carry it in a sling?"

The injured man shrugged. "There's a slight difference of opinion about that," he replied. "My doctor says two weeks—and my lawyer says twelve!"

Just Wants Some Fun

Big Game Hunter Not Looking For Adventure In Africa

Harry Snyder, of Montreal, a big game hunter who doesn't believe in adventure, is going to lead an expedition into the wilds of Africa "simply for fun". Snyder will leave early in April on the first leg of the trip.

Every preparation for the comfort and safety of the expedition, which will include Col. A. J. MacNab, late of the United States army; Jim Hunter, Kenya sportsman, and George Goodwin, assistant curator of the New York Museum of Natural History, has been made in advance.

"Adventure," Snyder said, "is the thing which results from lack of preparation. I've had plenty of adventures. To my mind the fellow who goes out hoping to miss death by an inch is just a nut."

Though the party hopes to get in some real elephant shooting, most of it will be done with 13 cameras being taken to picture Africa's animal life.

To take the taste of adventure out of the coming hunting trip, the expedition has had men out for two months clearing the trail the party will follow through Eastern-Central Africa. Two trucks and two automobiles have been built specially for high clearance necessary on such trails.

Eight-Day Garden Party

Victoria Sets Dates For Show With New Contestants

Snowdrops are up, violets in blossom and with daffodils in flower people in Victoria are all of a dither about the spring garden party. Which, believe it or not, lasts eight days and is unique on the Pacific coast. Elsewhere, too, for the matter of that.

With the dates set for May 4 to 11 inclusive, a very nice selected committee is currying-combing Victoria's list of gardens.

In addition to well-known estates such as those belonging to Lady Barnard at Esquimalt, Mrs. W. C. Nichol, Senator and Mrs. G. H. Barnard, Mrs. Biggarstaff Wilson, all sorts of garden enthusiasts have gone to Victoria to live, whose gardens, up-to-date, their owners considered, weren't quite up to snuff, or at least not good enough to go into a spring garden showing.

Now they are, so visitors will have more designs, plants and theories to argue about—part of the fun of garden week being, apparently, not only admiration, but argument.

Lost Mining Stocks

Located In Mattress Purchased At Auction Sale

E. J. Prescott, Great War pensioner, bought a mattress at an auction sale. As he unloaded the mattress at his modest bungalow home in Calgary an envelope dropped to the ground.

"I was going to give it to my little girl to play with, then I saw it contained stocks of some kind," he said. The envelope contained mining shares worth $300.

He immediately notified police and the owner, Mrs. C. E. Kilner, of Calgary, was found. The stocks were returned to her two hours before she boarded a train en route to England.

Do Fast Work

Industrial Britain says the only car-washing equipment of its kind in Great Britain, and the second in the world, has been installed in the large Sheffield garage recently opened by Viscount Nuffield. Thirty men are employed on this car-washing section, which works on chain principle, and by which cars can be washed and lubricated at the rate of one every eight minutes.

WORKS IN 2 WAYS ON DISCOMFORT OF

COLDS

1. Take 2 "ASPIRIN" tablets and drink a full glass of water. Repeat treatment in 2 hours.

2. If throat is sore from the cold, crush and stir 3 "ASPIRIN" tablets in ½ glass of water. Gargle twice. This eases throat soreness almost instantly.

No family need neglect even minor head colds. Here is what to do: Take two "Aspirin" tablets when you feel a cold coming on—with a full glass of water. Then repeat, if necessary, according to directions in each package. Relief comes rapidly.

The "Aspirin" method of relieving colds is the way many doctors approve. You take "Aspirin" for relief—then if you are not improved promptly, you call the family doctor. "Aspirin" tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited, of Windsor, Ontario. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

Kathleen Shackleton Says Canada Has Everything She Wants

"Canada has everything, it is the only country for me," said Miss Kathleen Shackleton, noted artist and sister of the late Sir Ernest Shackleton, in an interview at Vancouver.

"In the older cities Canada has culture and sophistication, in the northern areas pioneer life, and vast unexplored places. In the newer regions there is simplicity and sincerity."

"I would rather live here than anywhere. London may be a fascinating playground for the tourist, but to me it is just a crowded centre of heads and brains. I am tired of them. I like to live closer to the earth, closer to people of the pioneer type," she said.

During the past few months, Miss Shackleton has made portrait sketches of northern and native types for the Hudson's Bay Company's headquarters in London.

Have Economic Value

Birds Are Also Cheerful Things To Have Around Neighborhood

Birds have an economic value in eating harmful insects and weed seeds. They have an ethical worth in cheering our days with their songs and flash of color. They may be induced to take up their abode in our own yards if we offer them a residence, rent free. Encourage your boys to construct one or more of these bird dwellings in their spare hours. This will be good for both boys and birds.

Summer birds, which do not require houses, may be lured to our neighborhoods by putting out bits of feathers, wool and twine in the nest-building season.

A doctor gives the following medicine don'ts: Don't increase the dose of medicine prescribed by the doctor. Don't take medicine in the dark. Don't use medicines that have stood on your shelves a long time. Don't forget to read the label carefully. Don't neglect to shake the bottle well.

Opportunity Knocks On B.C.'s Door

If the United States of America can spare $5,000,000 a year for five years from its "pump priming" or other funds to prime British Columbia's pump, then let's all get on Premier Pattullo's pump handle and start a gusher.

It is incidental that the proposed B.C.-Alaska project will provide the U.S.A. with a terra-firma route to its northern territory. The main thing is that it will give access to more than half of British Columbia. This half, lying beyond the terminus of even our dirt roads, contains immense natural wealth that we are unable to tap at present.

Strategic importance of a highway to Alaska, we hope, is sufficiently great that we will not have to give too large concessions to gain our ends. Other values, even then, would greatly compensate.

The direct expenditure of this money over a period of years will lend much greater indirect spending and consequent development as well as widespread publicity that will focus the attention of the world on our province's resources.

There is this to remember also. If we do not soon step in alone, or with friendly help to develop these resources, other more rapacious nations will. They probably will attempt it anyway, sooner or later. We need a big employment project, a stimulating, invigorating construction tonic. If Premier Pattullo's week-end intimations are but buds presaging spring bloom and summer fruit, our opportunity is knocking at the door.

"MOTHER'S DAY" SERVICES DRAW BIG CONGREGATIONS

Trinity United church was crowded on Sunday morning when the vestibule and platform had to be used to accommodate the large number who assembled for the Mother's Day service. The Primary Department, under the leadership of Miss Hunt, and the Junior Choir under Mrs. Anderson were largely responsible for the service. The church was beautifully decorated with lilacs, tulips, narcissi and other spring flowers. The service in the evening was also built around "Mother's Day" and the church was again filled to capacity.

Grand Lecturer, who was elected Deputy Grand Registrar. Three members of L.O.L. No. 1867, Abbotsford, attended the 48th annual session of the Grand Orange Lodge of B.C. They were Wor. Bro. Jas. H. Harkles, Wor. Master; Wor. Bro. C. R. McKibbin, Past Master; and Rt. Wor. Bro. W. C. Bell. The last-named was re-elected Grand Lecturer.

The sessions were well attended and reports showed increases in both membership and finances.

Personal Paragraphs

Contributed by our District Correspondents

ABERDEEN

An interesting address, given by Mr. T. W. Hall, director of the A. S. & M. Educational Area, was enjoyed by P.T.A. members and residents of Aberdeen community in the hall on Tuesday evening. Mr. Hall ably and clearly outlined the various phases of the management of the M.S.A. Educational scheme, the expenditures incurred, and the transportation of pupils by bus. A question period followed, but the address was so complete that only a few questions seemed necessary. Refreshments were served at the tables in the basement and a well-told story by Mr. Hall closed the evening. Another meeting is anticipated on June 7.

A number of friends met at the community hall on Saturday to bid farewell to Mrs. N. Clark, a resident of this district for several years. Whist was played, and Mrs. Brothen, Mr. N. Orwick, Mr. Soderbaum and Ben Smith carried off the prizes. Refreshments were served in the basement, the tables being artistically decorated, and well laden. Mr. Jack Smith, with a few well-chosen remarks, presented the guest of honor with a cameo brooch and a bouquet of carnations was presented by Mrs. A. E. Gledhill. Then all joined heartily in singing "Auld Lang Syne". After a short stay with relatives in Lynden, Mrs. Clark expects to spend some time at Cook, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Chittenden and baby daughter have returned to Harrison.

A community meeting will be held in the hall on Thursday, May 12, at 8.30 p.m. and it is hoped there will be a good attendance.

The Ladies' Association will hold their regular monthly meeting in the hall on Thursday, May 12, at 2.30 p.m.

The last of the series of whist drives held during the winter under the auspices of the Ladies' Association will be held Friday at 8.30 p.m., and will wind up with dancing from 11 to 12 p.m.

The social committee of the Community Club held a meeting in the hall on Friday last, and arrangements were made to hold a dance to raise funds for athletics. Tentative plans were also made for a community social to be held on June 3rd.

The P.T.A. are making arrangements for a "bean supper" in the hall. There will also be a short programme, followed by dancing. Proceeds for purchasing shoes for the children's sports.

Confirmation classes of St. Margaret's Anglican church, Bradner, in charge of Rev. F. S. Henderson, commenced Thursday at the home of Mrs. A. Hanson. The Most Rev. A. U. DePencier, Archbishop of New Westminster will perform the rite of confirmation on Whit Sunday, June 5.

St. Margaret's Guild will meet at the home of Mrs. James Owen, Mt. Lehman on May 28th.

The Bradner Boy Scouts held their final meeting for the season in the hall on Thursday.

Mr. J. Nichols has returned home after spending some time in New Westminster. While there he attended the Canadian Legion banquet.

Mrs. Cuming and daughter are visiting in Bremerton, Wash., having returned with Mr. and Mrs. Greig, who have been the guests of their mother for several days.

Jones, Margaret Grohnert, O. T. Jacobson and Mike Gaas, who had a total of 51 flags. Consolations went to Jean Bryce, Audrey Smith, Stewart Bryce and Fred Olund, who were 29 flags in debt.

The Matsqui Hospital Auxiliary served a dainty supper. A lovely cake made and donated by Mrs. O. T. Jacobson was raffled and won by Margaret Grohnert.

The proceeds of the whist and raffle, about $19, went to swell the Matsqui Hospital Auxiliary Funds. Voluntary music was supplied, and the crowd enjoyed old time and modern dancing.

St. Matthew's Rectory, Abbotsford, B.C., 8th May

Editor, News:

Dear Sir:

I was rather surprised at the tone of your editorial of recent date regarding the proposed legislation for medical examination of candidates for marriages. The idea of medical examination of prospective parents is excellent and is one that any government should encourage by every means in its power, but this measure is only touching the fringe of the problem of the unfit, for any reason whatever, becoming parents. No medical examination can guarantee that those passed by such a test are really fit to be the parents of the future citizens of any kind of State, let alone a democratic one that exists on the healthy-minded co-operation of its proletariat and can only function through such educated mindfulness of personal responsibility that has always been fostered in the British Empire.

The ponderous levity about our Church's attitude in this matter is also a matter for wonder. The Church's opinion was asked and the answer was given by our highest executive from his own pew and no one else's. Therefore he can't be in the wrong pew.

The historic Church has always maintained the highest ideals of marriage and has always taught its members the importance of this great step, not only from the psychological and spiritual view-point, but also from the physical. Legislation without education in this matter is useless. The Church says that education makes legislation unnecessary in such a matter as this. This is the Church's opinion and practice and is the only practical solution to the problem—education of parents and children too. The sneers of those that stand without the Church merely render it's task that much more difficult without contributing anything. Coercive legislation is the expedient of those who do not, or do not bother to try, to understand human nature; vide Prohibition.

I am, Sir, yours truly,

FRANK HENDERSON

MAYTIME HOE-DOWN AT CLOVERDALE ON FRIDAY, MAY 20th

More than passing interest is being shown in the Maytime Hoe-down which is to be held at Cloverdale on Friday, May 20. Sponsored jointly by the New Westminster Junior Board of Trade and the Surrey Junior Chamber of Commerce, energetic committees are planning a full evening for the dancers. Decorations appropriate to the occasion, a prize for the best hay-seed costume, lucky prizes for merry-makers and a "shag" contest are two of the attractions. Haney, Chilliwack, Vancouver and North Vancouver Boards are supporting the event.

CELEBRATE MAY DAY—IN ABBOTSFORD!

Opens 13th Sale On Friday, May 13, at 13th Hour

J. S. DALY

Observing the 13th anniversary of his establishment in the Fraser Valley, Mr. J. S. Daly, proprietor of the J. S. Daly dry goods and hardware stores in Abbotsford and Kilgord, is opening a store-wide expansion sale at 1 p.m., the 13th hour, on Friday, May 13th.

Since coming to the Fraser Valley from Edmonton, Mr. Daly has won a well-earned name for himself in both business progress and community service. He opened a store at County Line in May, 1935. He acquired and moved to the Mill Store, Abbotsford, in the following year, and in 1928 he opened his downtown store in Abbotsford.

Closing out the Mill Store in December, 1930, Mr. Daly built an addition, now occupied by the hardware store to his own premises and acquired his Kilgord store in 1933.

In spite of the demands of such business development, Mr. Daly has taken time to support almost every community service organization and development project in the A. S. & M. Area. He is vice-president of Abbotsford and District Board of Trade and holds office in various other bodies. Mr. Daly has also allied himself with sport activities, and has for several years been a sponsor of softball teams.

While his Abbotsford stores provide 3500 square feet of floor space and he uses his former Mill Store building for warehousing, these facilities, Mr. Daly states, are inadequate and the anniversary sale opening on Friday is really an Expansion Sale to clear stocks and enable alterations to be made to improve store facilities.

SUMAS DOG LICENSE MAKES 12,000-MILE TRIP TO STRAITON

Some dog licenses are suspected to do a lot of interesting travelling during the rambling of their four-footed bearers, but a 1938 Sumas municipal dog license probably set a record this Spring.

The license was mailed out to John Farmer, well-known Straiton resident. An "Esq." added to the address had the appearance of the sometimes-used abbreviation for England, "Eng.", and the envelope containing the license got into the Old Country mail bag. Perhaps there is no Straiton, England, because the envelope bears a memo, "try Straiton, Ayrshire" (Scotland) and in due course the envelope garnered the postmark of the latter place and a further memo and subsequently the postmark of Loanhead, Midlothian, Scotland. Mr. Farmer was apparently "not known" there, so in due time the envelope passed through Ottawa and Winnipeg "dead letter" offices and, bearing nine postmarks, was returned to Sumas to be redirected by Provincial Constable Jack Blezard, who recently took charge of the district.

Fear Voracious
Pea Beetle May Reach Valley

The Striped Pea Beetle, or weevil, which The News reported in a recent issue to be worrying Vancouver Island pea growers, is causing particular alarm there, according to G. E. W. Clarke, district horticulturist, because of its rapid spread. The pest was noticed first in Victoria last year, and is now known to extend over the entire Saanich Peninsula and over the Malahat on the Island highway.

As hundreds of acres of peas for canning, market and dried peas are grown in this area, particular concern is expressed lest the Pea Beetle get a start in the Fraser Valley. The danger is not alone to pea growers, however, as the beetle attacks a wide range of leguminous plants including peas, sweet peas, clover and alfalfa.

Mr. Clarke has secured the following description of the beetle from J. W. Eastham, plant pathologist, Vancouver, who has just returned from Victoria. Mr. Eastham states: "The adults are exceedingly active, both running and flying. They are tiny, slate-colored beetles about as long as a strawberry weevil, but much narrower and more uniform in width. They are covered with a fine down and in certain lights you can see a longitudinal striping effect. The life history does not seem to be fully known, but apparently the female will lay as many as 5000 eggs. The larvae eats the roots, doing a lot of damage in the young stages while the beetles are very voracious feeders on foliage. They work in a characteristic fashion, scalloping the edges of leaves. It appears to be new to North America, and it is suggested that it has come from Germany in packing material."

Growers of peas, sweet peas, clover, etc., are urged to keep a careful lookout for the appearance of this destructive beetle and should send work to Mr. Clarke if they find any signs indicating its appearance in the valley.

TULIPS IN MUNICIPAL GARDENS ATTRACTING COAST FLOWER LOVERS

Bronze tulips in the attractive gardens that set off the Sumas municipal buildings at Whatcom and Yale roads so smartly are attracting wide interest. While they are now passing their prime, word of their striking size and beauty spread and motorists from Vancouver and other Coast points have driven up to see them. Some of their eight-petal blooms have been almost the size of teacups and the stems have been about 30 inches long. The variety is Bronz Queen. Municipal Clerk E. B. McPhail, who has been supervising the care of the gardens, has received many compliments on these beauties.

POULTRYMEN REPORT
GOOD SEASON
FOR HATCHING

Prominent poultry men in the Abbotsford district report this to be one of the best years for hatching chicks in their experience. Several report a loss of less than one per cent. A mild winter which has also given the breeding stock a chance to range is given as the principal reason. Chicks are vigorous, more uniform and easier to raise as a result.

CAR LOT VEGETABLE MOVEMENT LIKELY TO START ABOUT MAY 18

With "local" head lettuce already available and plenty of local spinach on the market, it is expected car lot movement of mixed vegetable will get underway about May 18th. In addition to lettuce and spinach the shipments will include radish, bunch onions, transplanted beets and turnips and early cabbage. Assembly is at Vancouver.

MAY HELP FARMER
SOLVE MUDDY BARN
YARD PROBLEM

A development which may produce great benefits in the farm building industry, in the opinion of Ralph Gram, district agricultural representative of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, is that of soil-cement mixtures.

An American cement company reports, Mr. Gram states, that stabilization of common soils with portland cement seems to offer such startling possibilities in farm structure as to justify their most careful and thorough examination. Soil cement mixtures for road surfacing seem to show enough promise to warrant the question as to whether this practice may not provide an economical source of farm pavements, paved feeding lots, floors for certain farm buildings, more stable and durable structures of rammed earth, etc. The proper combination of small amounts of cement with soils of many different kinds which contain certain percentages of moisture, obtain such favorable characteristics of hardness and durability as to suggest that here may be a development that will bring important changes in farm construction in the future.

"Oh, dear, oh, dear," said the earl, with a stricken look, "I believe I did mention a few things to old Bumpy Beddingdon in the club. Completely forgot they call him 'the Wireless Duke' because telling him anything is equivalent to broadcasting it. I'm truly most extraordinarily sorry, Ernest."

"Oh, it doesn't matter," said Ernest, and the thought that the circulation of London papers in rural Iowa is infinitesimal comforted him.

Crump announced that Captain Duff-Cooper was calling. The captain sauntered in, looking very smart and superior in his dinner suit. He greeted Rosa and the earl cordially, but his nod to Ernest was right out of the refrigerator.

"Dribble of coffee, Esme?" asked the earl.

"No, thanks."

"Scotch and splash, then?"

"Righto. Thanks."

"Ernest," said the earl, "has very kindly consented to allow the Hunt Ball to be held here."

"Decent of him," said the captain.

"Esme will mount you," said the earl to Ernest.

"Mount me?"

"Don't look so alarmed, my boy," said the earl. "I use the term in the hunting, not the taxidermy sense."

"You'll find Fin McCool a headstrong brute, Bingley," said the captain. "I had him out to-day. He's deuced erratic at taking walls, though not half bad at hedges and brooks. But he has lots of life and fire in him, and you'll enjoy riding him, I know."

Captain Duff-Cooper's chiseled features were not a field on which emotions played; but Ernest thought he detected in the captain's eye a glint which could only be described as malicious.

"Thank you, Captain," Ernest said.

"But I think I won't go fox-hunting. I have no shot-gun."

Emotion did visit the face of Duff-Cooper then. Shock and horror showed there. The man who awoke to find tarantulas nesting in his beard was not more appalled than the captain at that moment.

"Come now, Ernest," said the earl.

"You must not spoof Esme about fox-hunting. It's his religion, you know."

"I do hope you'll be with us on the hunt, Ernest," Rosa said.

"Are you hunting, Rosa?" he asked.

"Of course."

"Girl hasn't missed a meet since she was nine," said the earl. "And I've missed only three or four in forty years. One of them was three years ago when poor Gerald Mumford broke his neck at Lester's Wall; and last year I was laid up with a cracked collar-bone I got at the same spot."

"I think I won't hunt this year," said Ernest. "Next year perhaps."

COULDN'T EAT COULDN'T SLEEP

Now Free of Bad Liver and Kidney
Trouble and Feeling Fine

Here's another woman who felt terrible until she found how to get back appetite, sleep soundly, and secure new health. Mrs. A. H. Montreal, writes, "I had years of liver complaint and dizzy headaches—bowels irregular, crippled with kidney trouble too—no appetite—no sleep. Many laxatives gave me cramps. I tried Fruit-a-lives and my health greatly improved." These famous fruit juice, herb, and tonic tablets cleanse and strengthen the liver, help stomach, kidneys, intestines. Troubles go. Health must improve. 25c. and 50c. All druggists.

plored the charms of the English countryside, often with Lady Rosa as his guide and companion, or investigated the castle, his castle, stone by stone. The whole world, he said to himself, is a fool's paradise, and the real fool is the one who does not enjoy it while he can. So, pursuing this opportunist philosophy, he snapped his fingers at the future, squelched upstart worries about Fin McCool, the danger of exposure, Lester's Wall, his finances, the ogre Punder, and the other thorns on his rose.

He was in an exalted frame of mind as he set out for a walk on a golden, sparkling morning. Behind him loomed Bingley Castle, to-day a seething cauldron, for it was the day before the hunt, and guests, servants, and an avalanche of luggage had begun to pour into the historic pile. Haughty, hooded horses were arriving in vans, and the stable-yard swarmed with bow-legged grooms in stocks and gaiters, talking knowingly of matters equine.

It was not pleasure alone, nor the need of exercise that sent Ernest at a steady pace over hill and dale for a good four miles. He had a purpose, a mission.

On a previous ramble he had spied a fox entering its den in a copse not far from that ill-omened barrier, Lester's Wall. Ernest, hidden behind a bush, had watched the goings and comings of the graceful creature for an hour. His goal now was this lair, and his intention was to warn the fox to stay at home on the morrow, or, since there seemed to be no feasible way of conveying to the doomed animal the tip that some seventy hounds and humans were going to gang up on it, Ernest hoped he could scare it and cause it to flee to some safe and distant spot.

He reached Lester's Wall, which, or so it seemed to him, was notched like a desperado's gun, with a hoof-nick for each hunter who had come to grief attempting to jump it. He counted sixteen sinister nicks, and shuddered with each nick. The prospect that he might shortly find himself charging full tilt at it on the contumacious Fin McCool added nothing to his peace of mind. Then and there he resolved that he was not going to be the maker of the seventeenth nick.

The ancient problem: what would you do if you had a lion by the tail, hang on or let go, seemed kindergarten stuff to Ernest as he surveyed his own situation. To refuse to ride meant being branded as a saffron quitter. He did not care what Captain Duff-Cooper might think of him, but what Rosa Bingley might think of him seemed to Ernest the most important thing in the world. If he didn't ride he risked a broken heart, if he did ride he risked a broken neck.

He had considered a dozen schemes for extricating himself from his onerous predicament but they all seemed as full of holes as a tennis-net. An astigmatic one-eyed moron could see through the ruse of being called to London on urgent business, he reflected. Besides it meant leaving his dearly-bought paradise for two days. He decided that, as a last resort, he could plead a sudden attack of illness, some mysterious American ailment like delayed seasickness, and, artist that he was, he planned to eat a caterpillar or two so that his malingering would not lack in verisimilitude.

He scaled Lester's Wall, not soaring over it, but scrambling laboriously over it, and made his way to the fox burrow. He expected to find the fox going about its domestic duties innocent of the conspiracy afoot to deprive it of its brush and its future.

He saw no fox. He approached the entrance to its subterranean abode. Ten yards from it he stopped short. At his feet the green grass was stained with red blood. Now he understood the full meaning of a remark Captain Duff-Cooper had made at dinner the night before.

"We should have jolly good sport," the captain had said. "Farmers report numerous foxes in the neighborhood. This morning Lord Fellstone's pack had a splendid run. The fox nearly got to earth but they finally made the kill in Kingsley's Copse."

This then must be Kingsley's Copse, and that arterial smear the life-blood of the homing fox, mangled in its own front-yard, just two frantic leaps from sanctuary.

Ernest gave out a sound half groan, half oath.

"Too late," he said.

He bent down to examine the entrance to the hole. He smelled a foxy smell. For some reason, at that moment, he felt an impulse to run back to the castle and tag Duff-Cooper on his buck teeth with a heartfelt haymaker.

ITCH Use D.D.D. Description STOPPED QUICKLY

As he was about to turn away from the hole, he heard a sound which started off as a defiant bark and ended in a frightened whimper. Thrusting his arm to the shoulder into the burrow, he touched fuzz. He drew out a feebly squirming cub. The little creature made it plain that after waiting all night for the return of its mother, it was very hungry. Ernest stowed the cub under his coat to keep it warm. He was in no danger of sharing the fate of the legendary Spartan boy, for the orphan was so young it could not bite, only nuzzle.

Ernest conveyed his captive back to the castle and smuggled it up to his tower room. He made no mention of it to any one for he had a feeling that they might consider that he was giving aid and comfort to the enemy in this one-sided war.

Having bedded the cub down on his overcoat in a closet, he tugged the bell-rope and summoned Sloat.

"Get me a jug of warm milk at once, please," Ernest said.

"Very good, sir."

"And see that a jug of milk is brought here every morning and evening."

"Yes, sir."

"I intend to take milk baths," said Ernest. "I hear they are good for the complexion."

Sloat departed to get the milk and to spread the news of this latest vagary of the mad American.

His soft-footed return found Ernest in the closet soothing the cub by stroking it. Ernest popped out of the closet and slammed shut the door.

"Thanks, Sloat," he said, taking the jug.

A plaintive whine came from the closet.

"What's that, sir?" asked Sloat.

"What's what?"

"That sound," sir.

"I heard no sound."

Once again the cub voiced its need for nourishment.

"There it is again, sir," said Sloat.

"It sounds like the cry of a very young baby."

"It is," said Ernest.

Sloat tried hard to remember that a well-trained servant does not show his emotions, especially the most un-British of them, inquisitiveness. But curiosity scored yet another triumph over tact.

"Yours, sir?" inquired Sloat.

"Naturally."

"Boy or girl, sir?"

"One of each."

"How old are they, sir?"

"Born this morning."

"Indeed, sir. And might I inquire, sir, where their mother is?"

"Oh, she's been done away with," said Ernest.

"Done away with, sir?" quavered Sloat.

"Eaten."

"My word!" was all Sloat could say. "My word!"

He seemed about to flee from this unnatural father and possible cannibal, when Ernest said,

"I'm joking, of course. There's no baby in the closet."

The cub made a liar of him with a yelp.

"I've fooled you, Sloat."

"You've astonished me, sir."

"I'm studying ventriloquism," explained Ernest. "The earl is teaching me to throw my voice."

Sloat relaxed.

"I should like to learn how, sir. I could teach Cook."

The cub made sounds fairly lusty for one so young.

"Am I good or am I good?" said Ernest.

"Marvelous, sir," said Sloat. "I could swear there was baby, or a young animal in there."

"That's what practice does," said Ernest. "You may go now, Sloat."

"Thank you, sir," said Sloat, and bore his latest bulletin from bedlam to a waiting servants' hall.

Among those into whose receptive ears Sloat poured this and other tales of the corymbant conduct of the castle's tenant was Babette, maid to the Duchess of Beddingdon. Babette was from the south of France, of the race of Tartarin of Tarascon, which produces many poets but few reporters. The narrative with which Babette regaled her mistress while putting on that lady's evening face did not lack color however it may have sinned on the score of accuracy.

"Quel type d'homme!" said Babette. "Il est toqué."

"Don't jabber," said the duchess. She was an extensive lady known in her circle as "High-pockets."

"He is cracked in the kettle, that monsier American," said Babette.

"Shouldn't wonder," drawled the duchess. "Must be if he's a friend of George Bingley."

"This so droll one keeps bebes in his closet, and never wears the clothes," went on the maid.

"Never? Frugal of him," said the duchess.

"But he is of a richness formidable," said Babette etching on an eye-brow, "and, on dit, he has the sheep's eyes for Lady Rosa."

"Mmmmm," said the duchess. "Thought she was booked to marry that stick of a tin soldier."

"The betting in the servants' hall is even money to the contrary, Madame la Duchesse."

The Duke of Beddingdon, Bumpy to his intimates, came in to dress for dinner. He was an angular, bony chatter-box stooped by the weight of a mustache shaped like the horns of a water-buffalo. He had attempted to dye it red but it had come out an off-shade of purple.

As he insinuated himself into his stiff shirt his mate relayed to him the tid-bits about Ernest.

"Fella belongs in a loony-bin," said the duke. "Old Bingo was yarning about him at the club. Says he's not a bad sort, really, and scandalously rich. Why, the fella stumped up a thousand of the best for a month's rent of this old hut without batting an eye."

"Babette says he owns the Mississippi River."

"Girl always exaggerates," said the duke. "Doubt if he owns more than half of it."

Dressed, he transported himself and mustache to the Great Hall, had three quick neat brandies, and passed on his version of the Ernest saga to a fellow guest, Major General Sir Frederick Cowley, K.C.B., known in the artillery as "Mooley Cowley" because of his name and a noticeable resemblance to that useful animal.

"Fella has a closetful of squawling babies, shoots foxes, and thinks he somebody in 'Ivanhoe'; but he own most of the Mississippi River," said the duke.

"Fancy!" said the major general.

"Think I'll broach the subject of a slight loan," said the duke, "say five thousand for a starter."

"Shouldn't."

"Why not, Mooley? Fella's a Yank. All Yanks have a weakness for titles. And I'm a real duke, aren't I? I'll wager you sixpence the fella will be tickled plaid to let me have say, ten thousand—"

"Doubt it."

"Why?"

"Nobody is that crazy."

"You're probably right," said the duke, sadly. "Well, Mooley, old sprout, here's mice in your wig."

"Toot-toot," said Sir Frederick, and they clinked glasses.

Sir Frederick handed on to the Hon. Mrs. Fordyce his information about Ernest, and she told Ronnie Pym, and he told Lady Gwladys Wotton, and she told Colonel Pringle, D.S.O., and he told the Countess of Bathberry and she rushed to the powdering-room to scribble down the data for use in the next "Dashing About With a Dowager" column, which, under the pseudonym of "Goddiva Gadabout" she conducted in one of the largest London dailies.

Ernest, unaware of the interest with which his advent was awaited, was playing nurse-maid to the fox cub behind locked doors, when he heard a thumping at his door.

"Who is it?" he called out.

"Me, I," replied the voice of the Earl of Bingley. "May I come in, please?"

"One moment," said Ernest.

He bent close to the little fox.

"Now be a good cub and keep quiet," he whispered.

The cub, full of milk and contentment, was licking the polish on Ernest's best shoes as he closed the closet door on it.

Ernest admitted the earl who was wearing the dinner suit he had acquired on his return from the Boer War. Already the bow of his black tie had ridden around his collar and was diving out of sight.

The earl sniffed.

"I say, what sort of perfume do you use, Ernest?" he asked.

"I never use any, sir."

"Don't you notice a rather racy aroma?"

"No, sir."

Liner Of The Future

Will Be Streamlined Glass-Enclosed Speedboat Is Prediction

The Atlantic liner of the future will be a streamlined, glass-enclosed speedboat capable of making the trip from New York to Southampton in 3½ days.

This wonder ship was outlined by M. Pierre de Malglaive, of the French Line, and A. C. Hardy, engineer, in a paper read at the Institute of Marine Engineers.

Air in the enclosed vessels would be conditioned. Passengers could play games on the upper decks without being buffeted by winds or annoyed by gases from the funnels.

Temperatures would be regulated in accordance with the weather.

Found After Many Years

Former Private Receives Bible Lost On French Battlefield

Twenty years ago, somewhere in the mud of a French battlefield, a private in the A. E. F. lost the pocket Bible he had carried from his Minnesota home. A letter from Australia recently told him it had been found at Queanbeyan, Australia, and would be forwarded if he would communicate with the finder. The Bible's owner is now the Rev. Samuel T. Berg, pastor of the Mosses Hill Church near Loomis, Nebraska.
